Mr. Elias Jean Hayek, 29, Lebanon

Elias El Hayek is a Lebanese lawyer, trainer and researcher. He is a Governance Advisor at the German Corporation for International Cooperation (GIZ) in Lebanon and an Associate Researcher through the Governance & Integrity Fellowship at the University of Sussex. He serves on the Anna Lindh Foundation Youth Board and is a member of the Mediterranean Youth Council. He holds a research master's degree in National and International Business Law from the Lebanese University, where he is a PhD candidate. His work combines policy advice, legal analysis, research and training on governance, anti-corruption, access to information, whistleblower protection and public procurement integrity. His research focuses on institutional independence, transparency and public accountability. He believes integrity protects rights and public resources, and that empowering young people to shape policy is essential to building accountable institutions.
