Ms. Lydia Pato, 27, Papua New Guinea

My name is Lydia Pato, an undergraduate Social Work student with a minor in Political Science at the University of Papua New Guinea. I am passionate about grassroots social impact, civic education, and youth empowerment. I am a founding executive of Visionary Tribe, a youth-led initiative promoting civic education, human rights awareness, and understanding of PNG's Constitution and legal system. I believe integrity, transparency, and accountability are essential for good governance and public trust. I am interested in joining the YouthLED Integrity Board to deepen my understanding of anti-corruption and ethical leadership, and to learn how young people can promote accountability and building a more informed Papua New Guinea.
