

Logman Osman Ahmed Alhag is a Sudanese youth working in the fields of Conflict, Peace and security, mediation, building post-conflict societies, countering terrorism and violent extremism, Youth Empowerment, and Anti-Corruption. Logman is the Facilitator of the Youth Engagement and Empowerment Program at the United Nations Office of Counter-Terrorism in New York.

He is also a Consultant with UNESCO for Youth Engagement and Empowerment as part of the UNESCO restorer of Youth Trainers on Youth Engagement and Empowerment. In addition, Logman served as reviewer for: Africa Integrity Indicators research with Global Integrity Organization; Intergovernmental Authority on Development's (IGAD) Regional Strategy for Preventing and countering Violent Extremism for East Africa; and Sudan National Strategy for countering Terrorism and Consultant of Mapping Youth-led , Women-led and National Level Peace and VE CSOs in East Africa and IGAD Region.

Furthermore, he is a Fellow of the youth4peace program at the African Union Peace and Security department and a speaker at the TEDx on peacebuilding and conflict. Due to his work for Africa Peace and Security, he has been nominated to two Awards: Universal Peace Awards as part of the Young African Leaders Awards 2020 for young people working for peace, security, and development of the African continent; and the Africa Future Leaders Awards 2020 for young people working for Africa's 2063 goals, peace, security, and conflict resolution in Africa.

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/logman-osman-alhag-76a617173/>
@Logman_Osman | www.facebook.com/logman.osman.165

UNODC

United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime

Global Resource for Anti-Corruption
Education and Youth Empowerment